DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on January 15, 2009 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-8, 10-12, 17-20, 23-26, and 32-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blanco US 5,292,022 in view of Howard US 4,927,048.

Blanco '022 teaches a cover for a beverage can in the embodiment of figures 2-3, comprising an adhesive protector (7'), which covers the top surface, but does not cover the pull ring (6'). The central rivet (8) remains exposed, and is taught in column 3, line 47 to be a "usual rivet" which are formed by a section of the top panel. Thus, with the cover applied, a portion of the center panel remains exposed. The top panel further includes reinforcing ribs (4'), and the cover could be formed of plastic, as taught in column 2, line 48.

The reference fails to teach an annular groove, or the filler material filling the groove.

Howard '048 teaches a beverage can end, having an annular groove and a protective cover, showing the protective cover fits into the annular groove (16). Annular grooves, or countersinks, are known to provide increased resistance to internal pressure.

Art Unit: 3781

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the can of Blanco '022, providing an annular groove, and fitting the protective cover therein, motivated by the benefit of providing a sanitary cover over all portions of the end wall, and by the benefit of providing reinforcement to the end panel.

Regarding new claims 34-36, Examiner notes the claims do not require that the entire groove be covered by the filler material. Thus, Examiner asserts the condition shown in Blanco figure 3 meets the claimed limitations, as the separable portion (1') is exposed, while the back portion of the groove is covered by the filler material.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 13-16 and 27-31 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed January 15, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

a) Applicant argues the combination of Blanco in view of Howard fails to teach the filler material formed as a ring.

Examiner notes that because the central rivet (8) of Blanco is exposed, the cover/filler material is inherently formed as a ring.
